

| | | | |
|--|--------------------------|---------------------------------|---------------|
| Study programme: Applied Security | | | |
| Course title: Globalization of World Politics | | | |
| Lecturer: Miroslava Filipović | | | |
| Course status: Elective | | | |
| ECTS: 12 | | | |
| Requirement: / | | | |
| Course aims Presentation of traditional and contemporary theories of International Relation and globalization, basic actors and regularities, as well outcomes of economic, political and cultural globalization. | | | |
| Course outcomes Receiving an in-depth knowledge and competencies related to follow-up and understanding of phenomena in the area of IR in general and globalization and world politics in particular. In addition, students receive information about how and why the agenda of world politics is being created, and who are the main actors and institutions. This course will contribute to students' skills in data searching and analyzing, qualitative analysis, identification of data sources, etc. | | | |
| Course content Theory classes 1. The notion of IR, 2. The nature of the IR science, 3. International politics, 4. IR theories and theories of world politics, 5. IR factors, 6. Globalization, causes and manifestations, 7. Economic globalization, 8. Political globalization, 9. Social globalization, 10. Interdependence and globalization, 11. Concept of international community, 12. Actors of world politics, 13. Institutions of world politics 14. EU in world politics, 15. Future of IR and world politics. | | | |
| Literature 1. Baylis, John, Smith, Steve and Patricia Owens (2011), The Globalization of World Politics, Oxford University Press, fifth edition (or later). 2. Calvocoressi, Peter (2001), World Politics 1945-2000, Pearson Education Limited, England. | | | |
| Number of active teaching classes: | Theory classes: 4 | Practice classes: | |
| Teaching methods Through lectures and tutorials, the latter being interactive with additional explanations and examples. The final exam is in the written form of an essay. | | | |
| Knowledge assessment (max 100 points) | | | |
| Pre-exam tasks | Points | Final exam | Points |
| Students activity | 20 | Written exam/Paper presentation | 30 |
| Tutorials + Written paper | 20 | | |
| Mid-term tests | 30 | | |